

JJESC Bulletin # 12

Additional Members Needed for Job Rating Committee

The Job Rating Committee (JRC) which currently consists of twelve individuals, six from the MUSA bargaining unit and six from University managers is in need of two additional members: one from the MUSA bargaining unit and one from University managers. In order to be representative of the breadth and type of jobs in the bargaining unit and the University, preference will be given to members from research areas in the Faculty of Health Sciences.

Roles and Function of the JRC:

- participate in training on the application of the job evaluation system, principles of job evaluation, avoidance of gender bias, and documentation of decisions
- rate all jobs from job content information provided to the JRC and document all decisions appropriately
- seek clarification from incumbents and their supervisors where there is insufficient information to agree on the rating of a job, using a consistent and fair procedure

Requirements of JRC members:

- as the JRC requires quorum to operate, we are seeking individuals who are committed
- be open- minded and possess the ability to work as a part of a joint labour management team with good consensus building skills
- be able to evaluate a broad range of complex information using their excellent critical analytical skills
- be able to convey their thoughts and rationale effectively in a group environment
- ensure consistency over time in application of the job evaluation tool
- possess an understanding of the range and diversity of work in the bargaining unit
- be able to consider the evaluation of the jobs separate from the jobs' current incumbents
- be able to learn quickly
- be able to work quickly and thoroughly

Time Commitment:

- approximately 1 year beginning in March 2005
- individuals will be seconded to the JRC on a ½ time basis (mornings 8:30 am until 12:00 noon) and will retain their current positions in the afternoon
- managers will have the ability to backfill the JRC member's position on a ½ time basis for the duration
- for all work time spent on the JRC, the salary and benefits of the members will be maintained

- a limited number of members will have the opportunity to continue their role on the JRC on an on-going basis as the new tool is used to evaluate positions beyond the initial implementation phase June 2005

Selection Criteria:

- continuing employee status
- MUSA applicants must have membership in good standing
- University applicants should be in TMG or MUFA, and have supervisory experience
- familiarity with the McMaster environment and policies
- sensitivity to equity issues and awareness of pay equity legislation
- ability to work cooperatively within a team
- ability to work within tight timelines

Scope of the Project:

- the MUSA bargaining unit consists of approximately 2025 employees
- evaluations covering those jobs need to be completed

Deadline for Response:

- Friday, January 28, 2005 by 5:00 p.m.

Selection Process:

- the JJESC will review submissions from all applicants and may request an interview to aid in the selection process
